Dear Iona Community,

This is the latest newsletter of 2016. During the course of the year, I have tried to share with you the many highlights and opportunities that the boys have experienced, as well as the areas where we still have some work to do. I have been happy to celebrate success and also been honest to share with you, some of the aspects of College life that need to improve, including our mistakes. All of this has been an attempt to keep you as involved and engaged with the community as possible.

This year has seen the College celebrate the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate as well as the Year of Mercy. These celebrations have been alongside our College Theme of Play Your Role.

I have very much enjoyed the great opportunity and responsibility that comes from leading our school. I genuinely appreciate the effort that my family made in choosing Iona as the school for me and this has led to a great appreciation for the sacrifices made by our families. It is the close alignment of your family values with the values of the College that sees our enrolment number so strong.

I would sincerely like to thank every Student, Oblate, Family, Staff, Old Boy, Board Member, Foundation Member and Supporter who has contributed to our Iona Culture over the course of the year. It is clear that very many of you have indeed played your role in enhancing our Iona community.

2016 IONIAN

This week you should all receive your 2016 edition of the Ionian. The cover is a modern interpretation of the classic Ionian covers of the 1960s, 70s and 80s and I am extremely grateful to Chief Editor Mrs Crystal Brindley and her team of editors and proof readers, namely Ms Angela Simpson, Mrs Melissa Stapleton, Ms Lisa Mugridge, Mrs Karen Otway and Mrs Kirsten Hudson. Many people also contributed photographs and stories and we are grateful to them too. I am extremely pleased that the Ionian truly represents our community and I sincerely hope you all enjoy it as well.

2017 COLLEGE CAPTAINS AND PREFECTS

Our College Captain for 2017 is Matthew Riddle and our Vice-Captains are Johrel Martschinke, Bede Nolan, Nicholas Vardanega, Finn Buxton and Jack Firth. These young men are fine Ionians and a more complete profile on them will be offered in the new year.

We are also in the final stages of announcing the 2017 Prefect list and this will be formally announced at the start of 2017. Some boys will be extremely happy, while others will be dealing with varying levels of disappointment. This will be another chapter in their development.

OMI PILGRIMAGE CELEBRATING 200 YEARS

Currently 26 members of our community are experiencing France and Italy as part of the 200th anniversary pilgrimage. At the time of writing, they have just landed in Paris, after experiencing Aix-en-Provence (St Eugene’s home town), Marseille (where he is buried) and Lourdes. It appears as though everyone is absorbing the beautiful culture as well as deepening their connection with St Eugene and the Oblates. Please keep their safety and the safety of all in your prayers.

Iona College seeks to provide a dynamic Catholic learning community within the Oblate spirit, so that its members are faith-filled, resilient, courageous, well-balanced and prepared to make a difference.
PRAYERS OF SUPPORT FOR OUR NEW ZEALAND BROTHERS AND SISTERS
On behalf of our entire Iona community, I would like to assure our New Zealand families of our prayers and support for our neighbours. Our College is enriched by the presence of many New Zealanders and I sincerely hope that their friends and families are safe.

MERRY CHRISTMAS ON BEHALF OF THE OBLATES
On behalf of Fr Lewy Keelty OMI, Fr John David OMI and myself, I would like to wish you all a safe, happy and holy Christmas. I also sincerely hope and pray that there will be some positive and strong family time. I particularly keep in my prayers, those for whom Christmas will be difficult because of missing family members, through distance, death or relationships.

For those families with older sons, I ask you to keep up your strong standards of knowing where they are going and who they will be with and what supervision will care for them at gatherings. We very much look forward to welcoming them back for the 2017 academic year.

I wish the warmth of Christmas brings peace to your homes. May you find happiness, love and friendship beside you and wherever you may go. Merry Christmas to you and your family.

Take Care

PRIMARY NEWS

YEAR 6 PRIMARY CELEBRATION MASS

Our Year 6 classes, together with their families, celebrated the completion of their primary school education on Tuesday in IPAC. The afternoon commenced with Mass, led by Fr Lewy Keelty OMI and Fr Michael Twigg OMI, which focussed on giving thanks for the journey so far and embracing the journey yet to come. A Primary Certificate was presented to each of the boys and the ceremony concluded with afternoon tea in the foyer of IPAC.

Congratulations to Thomas Segger who was acknowledged for receiving the 2016 Caltex Service to the School Award and to Cayman Poole for being awarded the Mr Michael Goodwin Shield for his contribution to all aspects of Primary School life. I thank Mr Michael Goodwin for joining us for this special presentation.

My thanks to the following groups of people who all helped to make the afternoon a wonderful celebration for the students and their families: the Year 6 class teachers, Mrs McDonald and the music staff, Mr Ould and the IPAC staff, Mr Robba and the ground staff, Mrs Carole West and the Tuckshop staff and Administration staff.

We wish the boys many successes in their high school education and look forward to supporting them on their continued journey at Iona.

Mr Brayden Teecce
Year 6 Coordinator

The team at Australian Career Service has been exploring a free Australian tool that is helping students and career changers explore their choices for free. Open2Study is an Open Universities Australia initiative that provides 48 free short courses across a diverse range of subject areas. Students can explore their interests without a formal commitment or a financial burden. With a taste of what to expect from certain fields of study, students are better equipped to make informed decisions about undertaking a recognised qualification such as a bachelor degree or postgraduate course. WHERE CAN I FIND THIS INFORMATION ABOUT THE JOBS I’M INTERESTED IN?

myfuture website – Sign up for free if this is your first time on the website. Go to the Occupations section and search for your job of interest. Click on the Prospects tab.

- Job Outlook provides occupational information including job prospects.
- The Australian Jobs publication provides information about the labour market for industries and occupations as well as states, territories and regions of Australia. It also provides occupational and industry information that will help you understand where the jobs will be in the future.
- The Labour Market Information Portal provides you with up-to-date information about your local labour market. It provides information at the national, state and regional level.

Some cautions:
- Fast growth within an occupation does not guarantee more job opportunities, because the number of people seeking work may outnumber the job openings.
- Even occupations with declining job prospects can offer job opportunities, as people move across jobs.
- It is difficult to accurately predict long term job prospects. Unexpected events can have an enormous impact on the labour market (e.g. very few new jobs created in 2009 as a result of the global financial crisis).

Consequently, when you are making career decisions, job prospects are just one piece of information you need to consider. Other information includes your interests, skills, values, work preferences, and education and training requirements.

HIGH-PAYING JOBS YOU WON’T NEED A UNIVERSITY DEGREE FOR

Not all jobs require a university qualification. Some jobs have more than one pathway to a career, e.g. a university qualification, a VET qualification or on-the-job training. The latest Career FAQs newsletter lists 10 jobs that don’t necessarily require a university degree. The following are some of the jobs listed:

- Construction managers - Their job is to know everything and everyone on a project site. They require leadership and project management skills and knowledge of building and construction best practice. People train for this job in several ways: a construction management degree; a diploma of building and construction; a construction apprenticeship (e.g. carpentry); or on-the-job. See the myfuture website for more information about this job. Sign up for free if this is your first time on this website.
- Air transport professionals - Navigating the skies as a commercial pilot or air transport professional might not require a degree but does take serious commitment and skill. The Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA) strictly regulates the industry in Australia and requires that you pass a series of examinations and clock up many hours of flying experience before you can be eligible for a Commercial Pilot’s Licence or an Air Transport Pilot Licence (multi-crew pilots). See the CASA website for more information.
- Crane, hoist and lift operators - Crane and lift operators are perhaps the most well-paid labourers in construction. Due to the high risks involved in the role, you’ll need to be comfortable with heights and have exceptional coordination and mechanical aptitude. To become qualified, you need to obtain a Licence to Perform High Risk Work and complete a crane operator traineeship. Visit the WA Career Centre website for more information about the job.
- Gas, petroleum and oil power plant operators - While these jobs don’t require a university education, you do need to have mechanical aptitude, strong mathematical skills and the ability to cope with the physical demands of the jobs. Visit Job Outlook for details.
- Work Health and Safety professionals (WH& S) - As sectors such as the Australian building and construction industry grow, so too does the demand for qualified WH&S professionals. There are several pathways to work in WH&S. These include a university degree, diploma or a Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety. Read a case study of a WH&S manager on the Seeklearning website.
