Expectations

To get the most out of the Iona College Instrumental Music Program students, parents and teachers must work in collaboration. School life is often busy and students will need to navigate all their commitments ensuring that expectations are met. The responsibility lies with all to ensure that communication is clear and timely and all interactions are positive and constructive.

Students are expected to:

1. Attend their weekly lesson;
2. Practise regularly, as directed by their teacher;
3. Attend ALL of their scheduled ensemble rehearsals and performances;
4. Demonstrate continual improvement; and,
5. Accept responsibility for proactively solving scheduling conflicts.

Parents are expected to:

1. Provide an appropriate place and time for practice in the home;
2. Guide their son through time management planning processes surrounding practice, study, work and other activities;
3. Give their son positive and constructive feedback regarding their progress;
4. Assist their son in attending all rehearsals and performances punctually;
5. Support their son in developing the skills needed to negotiate positively with their teachers and conductors;
6. Support their son by attending his concerts and other performances.
